TIM WARNER

Mr. Warner currently serves as President and Chief Executive Officer of Cinemark Holdings, Inc., headquartered in Plano, TX. Prior to his current position, he was President and Chief Operating Officer for 5 years. Additionally, Mr. Warner served as President of Cinemark International for over 10 years and was responsible for leading Cinemark's international growth efforts, primarily in Mexico, Central & South America, where it currently operates 1,360 screens in 172 theatres.

Prior to joining Cinemark, Warner was well-known throughout the industry as the CEO of NATO of California/Nevada and the General Chairman of NATO/ShoWest, the largest convention in the world devoted exclusively to all aspects of the motion picture industry. Warner's 1989-1995 reign saw NATO/ShoWest evolve from a regional confab to a convention routinely converged upon by motion picture professionals from all over the world. NA TO/ShoWest has evolved into the number one industry convention CinemaCon.

Mr. Warner was born and raised in Butte, Montana and began his exhibition career in Butte, Montana in 1956 at Fox-Intermountain Theatres. Following a two-year stint as theatre manager and city manager for National General, Warner in 1969 joined Theatre Operators, Inc. of which he was part owner. He progressed to President of the organization. In 1973, he started a second company, Warner Marketing Film Buying which bought film for independently owned theatres. Theatre Operators Inc. was acquired in 1988 by Chicago-based Excellence Theatres, which employed Warner as a senior executive until he left for Los Angeles to become CEO of the National Association of Theatre Owners of California and General Chairman of NATO/ShoWest.

During his time at Cinemark, Mr. Warner has been honored to be part of a team that has built Cinemark into one of the leading exhibition companies in the world operating 504 theatres, with 5,794 screens in 14 countries.

Mr. Warner has been active throughout his life in several industry organizations and has been a featured speaker at industry conferences throughout the world. He has been very committed to our industry charities (Will Rogers, Motion Picture Pioneers and Variety) throughout his career and has led fundraising efforts over the years for these and other outstanding charitable organizations.

Mr. Warner resides in Dallas, Texas with his wife Winifred (Windy). His daughter, Kristina Warner and her husband Laurent Ouaknine reside in Los Angeles, CA with their daughter, Abigail. His son, Tim Warner Jr., resides in Helena, MT with his wife Heather and their two sons Dane and Bridger.

Dear Tim,

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Variety –The Children's Charity of Southern California, our members and the children we serve, congratulations on receiving the 2013 Lifetime Achievement Award.

The Lifetime Achievement award, Variety's highest honor, is given in recognition of your distinguished professional career, your commitment to humanitarian causes and philanthropic pursuits. A career of dedication and leadership at TOI, Showest, Cinemark and of numerous industry initiatives have inspired many and has made a lasting positive impact on our industry.

We salute the passion that drives you, we appreciate your championing Variety's Gold Heart Program and your support of Variety events throughout the year. This journal is dedicated to your decades of exceptional leadership, professionalism and inspiring commitment to industry and community causes.

You have touched and enriched the lives of so many and are truly deserving of this award.

With great admiration,

Dear Tim:

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate you on receiving our coveted Lifetime Achievement Award.

The Lifetime Achievement award is given to a distinguished member of the motion picture community for both their professional accomplishments and leadership efforts in support of humanitarian causes and philanthropic pursuits. By accepting this honor, you will have helped raise money that will benefit children with special needs throughout Southern California.

It is altogether fitting and proper that the organization long considered the "Heart of Show Business" honors an industry leader, who himself, has been described as the "Heart of Show Business" for his deep commitment to community and charitable organizations. You are a model for all of us in the industry.

Please accept our heartfelt thanks and admiration for your remarkable career.

Sincerely,

Dear Leaders of Variety – The Children's Charity,

Thank you for honoring Tim Warner for his many accomplishments with your 2013 Lifetime Achievement Award. The work that you do to help support abused, physically challenged and underprivileged children is truly remarkable. I'm proud to have been asked to contribute a few words in honor of my friend.

Tim Warner is from Butte, Montana. Or, as people from Butte call it: Butte, America. If you have visited Butte, you may already know that people from Butte tend to be tougher than most, harder working than most and, in general, a lot of fun. And they get things done! This is certainly true of Tim.

As the son of a hard rock miner, Tim turned toward business at an early age, selling newspapers on street corners and working as a page in the local movie theatre well before he turned 10 years old. While he earned his degree in education from Western Montana College, his passion for the entertainment industry and movies drew him into the industry, in which he helped build Theatre Operators Inc., which operated in the western United States.

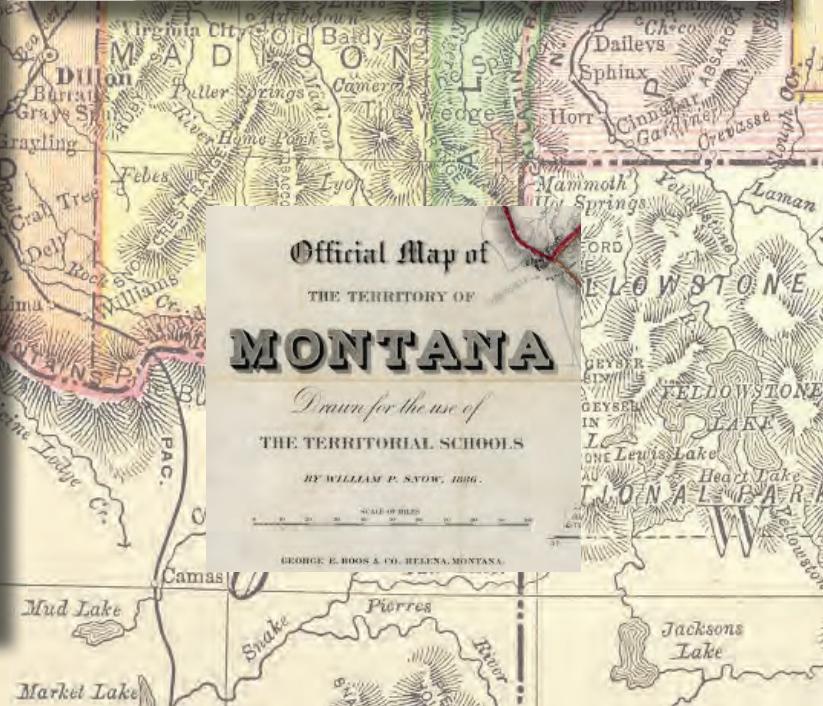

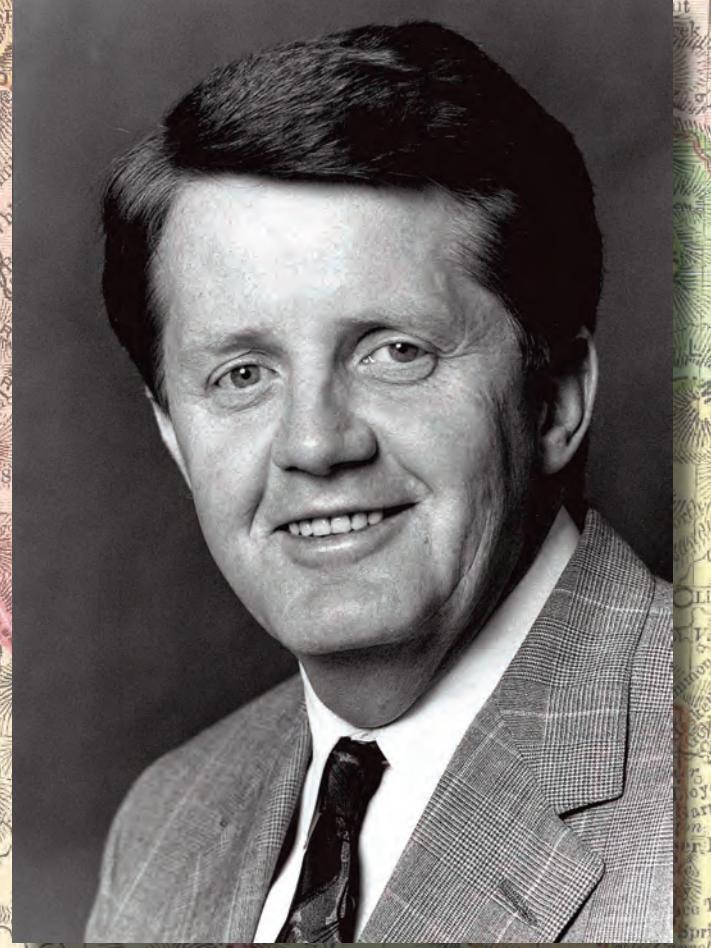

While we all know him as the Chief Operating Officer and President of Cinemark Holdings, one of the world's largest theatrical exhibition companies in the world, I first came to know Tim as an important employer and community member in Bozeman, Montana, where his company was headquartered. Tim has brought successful movie theaters to rural western towns and around the world. And throughout it all, he's remained dedicated to giving back to his community, serving as a member of the Bozeman Public Schools Board of Trustees for a number of years.

It is wonderful to see a business leader from Montana helping make such a positive impact on a global scale. Over my decades in the U.S. Senate and in public service, I have enjoyed Tim's support, his friendship and his occasional counsel regarding the many issues that cross my desk specific to international trade, piracy and empowering employers to create more jobs.

Again, congratulations to Variety for choosing such a well-qualified and deserving honoree this year.

Sincerely,

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
STATE OF MONTANA

STEVE BULLOCK
GOVERNOR

JOHN WALSH
LT. GOVERNOR

December 3, 2013

Dear Friends at Variety of Southern California:

In Montana, we pride ourselves on our ability to work together to ensure communities thrive. The Big Sky State is home to your most recent Lifetime Achievement Award Winner, Tim Warner.

As a graduate of Western Montana College in Dillon, and the product of Butte's public schools, Tim leveraged his experience to thrive in both his personally and professionally. Throughout his career, Tim has applied a straightforward, honest approach to business, whether that's building a new theater here in Montana or constructing a multiplex in Bogata, Columbia. He prioritizes customer service, quality and a consistently reliable and safe environment in which people can enjoy the fruits of one of America's greatest exports: movies.

We can all be proud that Tim has contributed to the success of the entertainment industry globally, nationally and right here in Montana. Most of all, we are proud of Montana's contribution of one of America's finest innovators in economic development, job creation and the promotion of American values throughout the world.

On behalf of all Montanans, I join you in honoring Tim for his lifetime achievement in the entertainment industry.

Sincerely,

Colorado witnessed the work of angels after a movie theater shooting shook Aurora and our entire nation. Tim Warner was one of those angels.

Tim was quick to help victims and their families, local communities and Cinemark employees. We are beyond grateful for the compassion and assistance he offered during what undoubtedly was one of the darkest times we all will ever face.

Thank you Tim for all you've done for Colorado, and congratulations on this well deserved Lifetime Achievement Award from Variety the Children's Charity of Southern California.

Dear Tim:

On behalf of the Board of Directors and our entire Cinemark team, congratulations on receiving Variety's 2013 Lifetime Achievement Award.

You are truly a pioneer in the entertainment industry and your passion has positively impacted Cinemark on many different levels. From your earlier days spent building and developing Cinemark's international company to your role today as Chief Executive Officer, your accomplishments have been extraordinary. Through a lifetime of leading, encouraging and coaching, you have touched and enriched the lives of many people. The legacy you have created through the talented individuals you have mentored leaves our company and industry well-positioned for the future.

Congratulations on a wonderful career. We all join together in honoring you on a lifetime of achievement.

Dear Tim,

To me, it is entirely appropriate that you are being honored with the Variety Club of Southern California's 2013 Lifetime Achievement Award. It is a wonderful way to bring to light what I have known about you for over 30 years: that you truly care for those who are in need, and are willing to give the most valuable commodity you have, your time, to make a positive difference in people's lives.

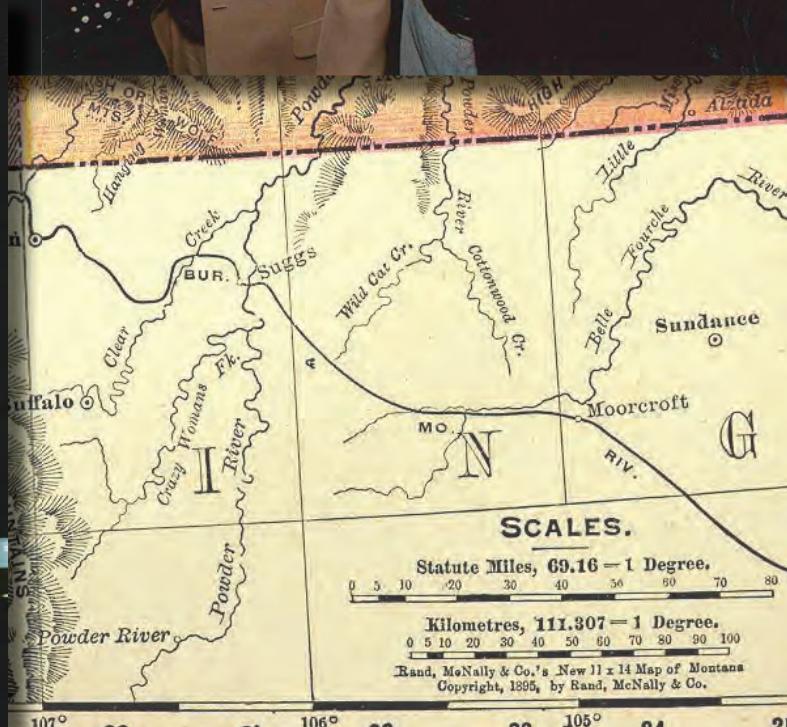

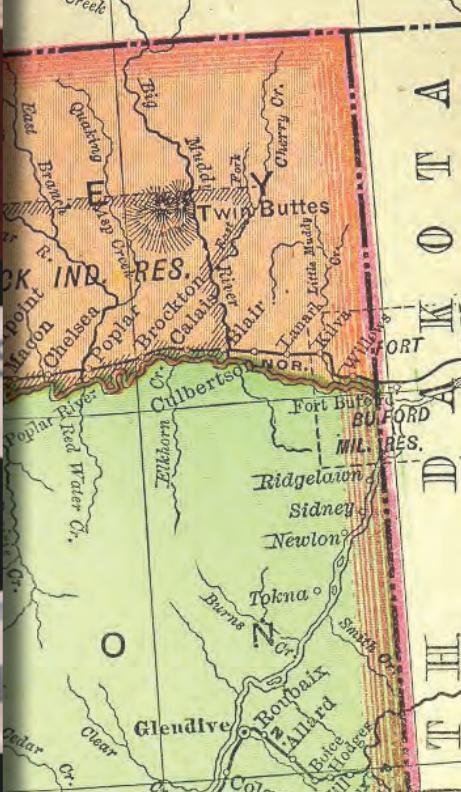

This sense of giving that you possess comes naturally, even in a business, which at best can be called adversarial. I know this personally because of our long friendship and the help and advice you gave me throughout my career in both exhibition and distribution. And your best advice was always conveyed, not in words, but in your own actions; always be honest, take responsibility for your decisions, and make every effort to resolve problems when they arise.

As I sit here thinking about our friendship over the last 3 decades, I realize we share some great memories, both personal and professional. The one constant in all those memories is how much fun we had when we got together. Still do, for that matter. You're just a great guy to hang around with, whether we are playing golf, white water rafting, negotiating terms, or discussing holdovers. You always leave me with a smile on my face.

Again, Tim, congratulations and I couldn't love and respect you any more than I do.

Always,

David

Dear Tim,

Leaving it to others to underscore the accomplishments that have marked the splendid arc of your career, I choose instead to draw upon the vantage point provided by our 40+ years of friendship. In some small way I hope to touch upon the soul of who you are and why you so richly deserve the Variety Club's Lifetime Achievement Award.

Of course being of Irish descent, you had a distinct advantage from the outset! Your early environment illuminates the rest. Wallace Stegner, a premier voice of the American West writes, "Expose a child to a particular environment at his susceptible time and he will perceive in the shapes of that environment forever." That is doubly so if one hails from Butte, Montana.

It was in Butte that your father scratched out a living in the underground mines, only to widow your mother all too soon with eight children. Family was paramount, and everyone needed to lend a hand. A mere seven years old, you proudly assumed the responsibilities of your first job, sweeping popcorn from the carpets of the Park Theater. It was there, amidst the flickering images on the screen that your love for the magic of cinema was born. A love that merged with a deeper one, and therein abides the heart of who you are.

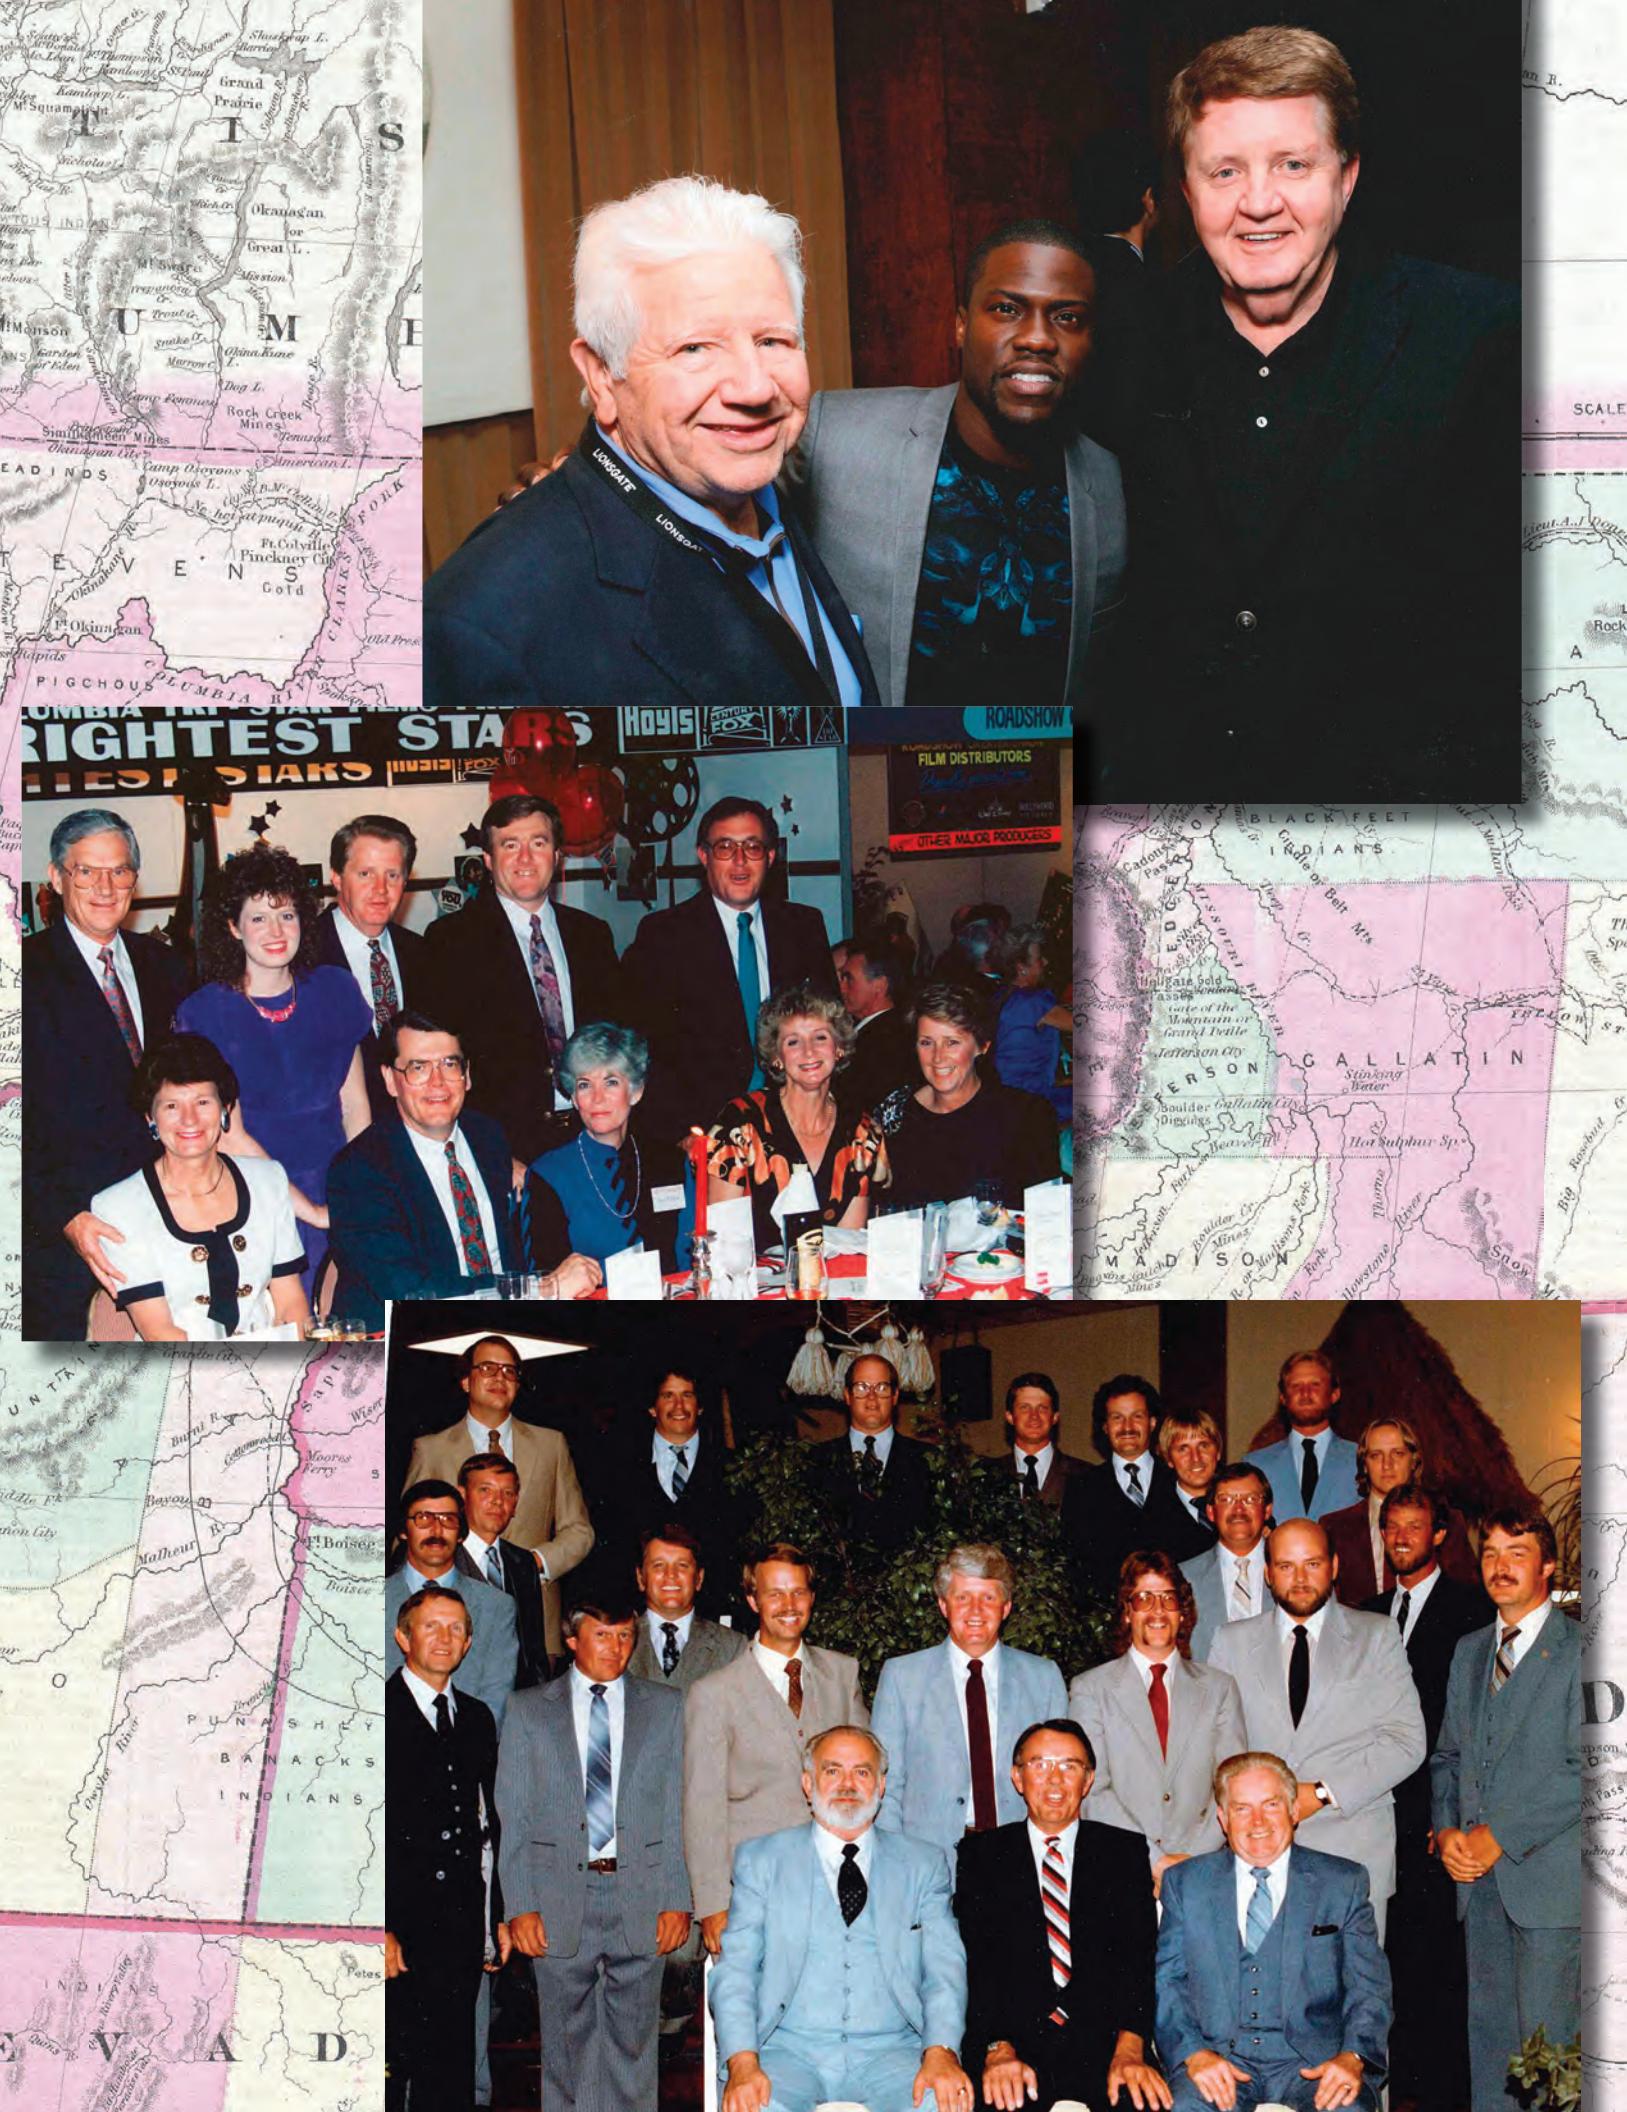

An image comes to mind. Pitch a pebble into a still pond, and a small ripple quickly expands to include several more. To me, your twin loves of cinema and family gradually expanded to encompass far wider circles. In every position you held, you have always viewed those you work with as extended family. Treating each person with an abiding respect, you encourage and foster individual gifts, aspirations, and the unique contributions each individual makes to the whole. When someone believes in us, we tend to believe more deeply in ourselves. The truth of the matter is that in work as in life, you've always truly cared about others, no matter who they are or what their station. You have enabled so many to fervently embrace their potential. People matter to you, Tim, and—surprise, surprise – you in turn genuinely matter to them, as this award so deservedly recognizes.

Leadership requires vision, skill and a certain degree of toughness. Raised in a mining community, you can be "Butte Tough" if need be. However, that is not who you are. Instead, words like humble, generous, and instinctive kindness come to mind. Then too, your fundamental decency is accompanied by a contagious optimism, humor and an Irish wit that springs from never taking yourself too seriously.

So Tim, I have attempted to find words to express the inexpressible. It is difficult to define a good man, yet we all know one when we see one. A good man, I might add, who would be the first to say how much he owes his achievement in the business he treasures, to the support of his extraordinary wife and wonderful family.

What a life! What a friend!

Michael Miles

Tim Warner is like no one else I've ever known, and I've known him over 40 years. In the early years we were on similar career paths working for the same theatre company, Tim in Butte, MT. and me in Billings, MT. We advanced, going separate ways, but always aware of the others progress in the theatre industry. Years later I had the pleasure of working with him for 8 years and during that time I was surprised by his insight, leadership and caring for others. He was always quick to see the plight of others and lend a helping hand. He is a team builder, team player, and a leader of men. He does so by listening, teaching, guiding, praising, and example.

In the years I worked directly with Tim, he guided me on an upward path in management and taught me some hard lessons that caused me to evaluate all of my interactions with others. Tim has always been honest and straight forward in all of his business and personal relationships. In my case he provided a means for me to enroll in self-improvement classes and gave the necessary moral and financial support for me to move forward in my career in a more positive direction with a better understanding of communication and the leadership of others. Tim has always had a passion for helping others find a path of excellence and has never forgotten the blue collar roots that he rose from in Butte, MT. He has the ability to communicate with people from all walks of life regardless of age, heritage, language or country of origin. This is only a small portion of the effect Tim has had on me and I'm sure this is just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to the effect he has had on everyone he has come into contact with. He remains a close friend and confident to this day.

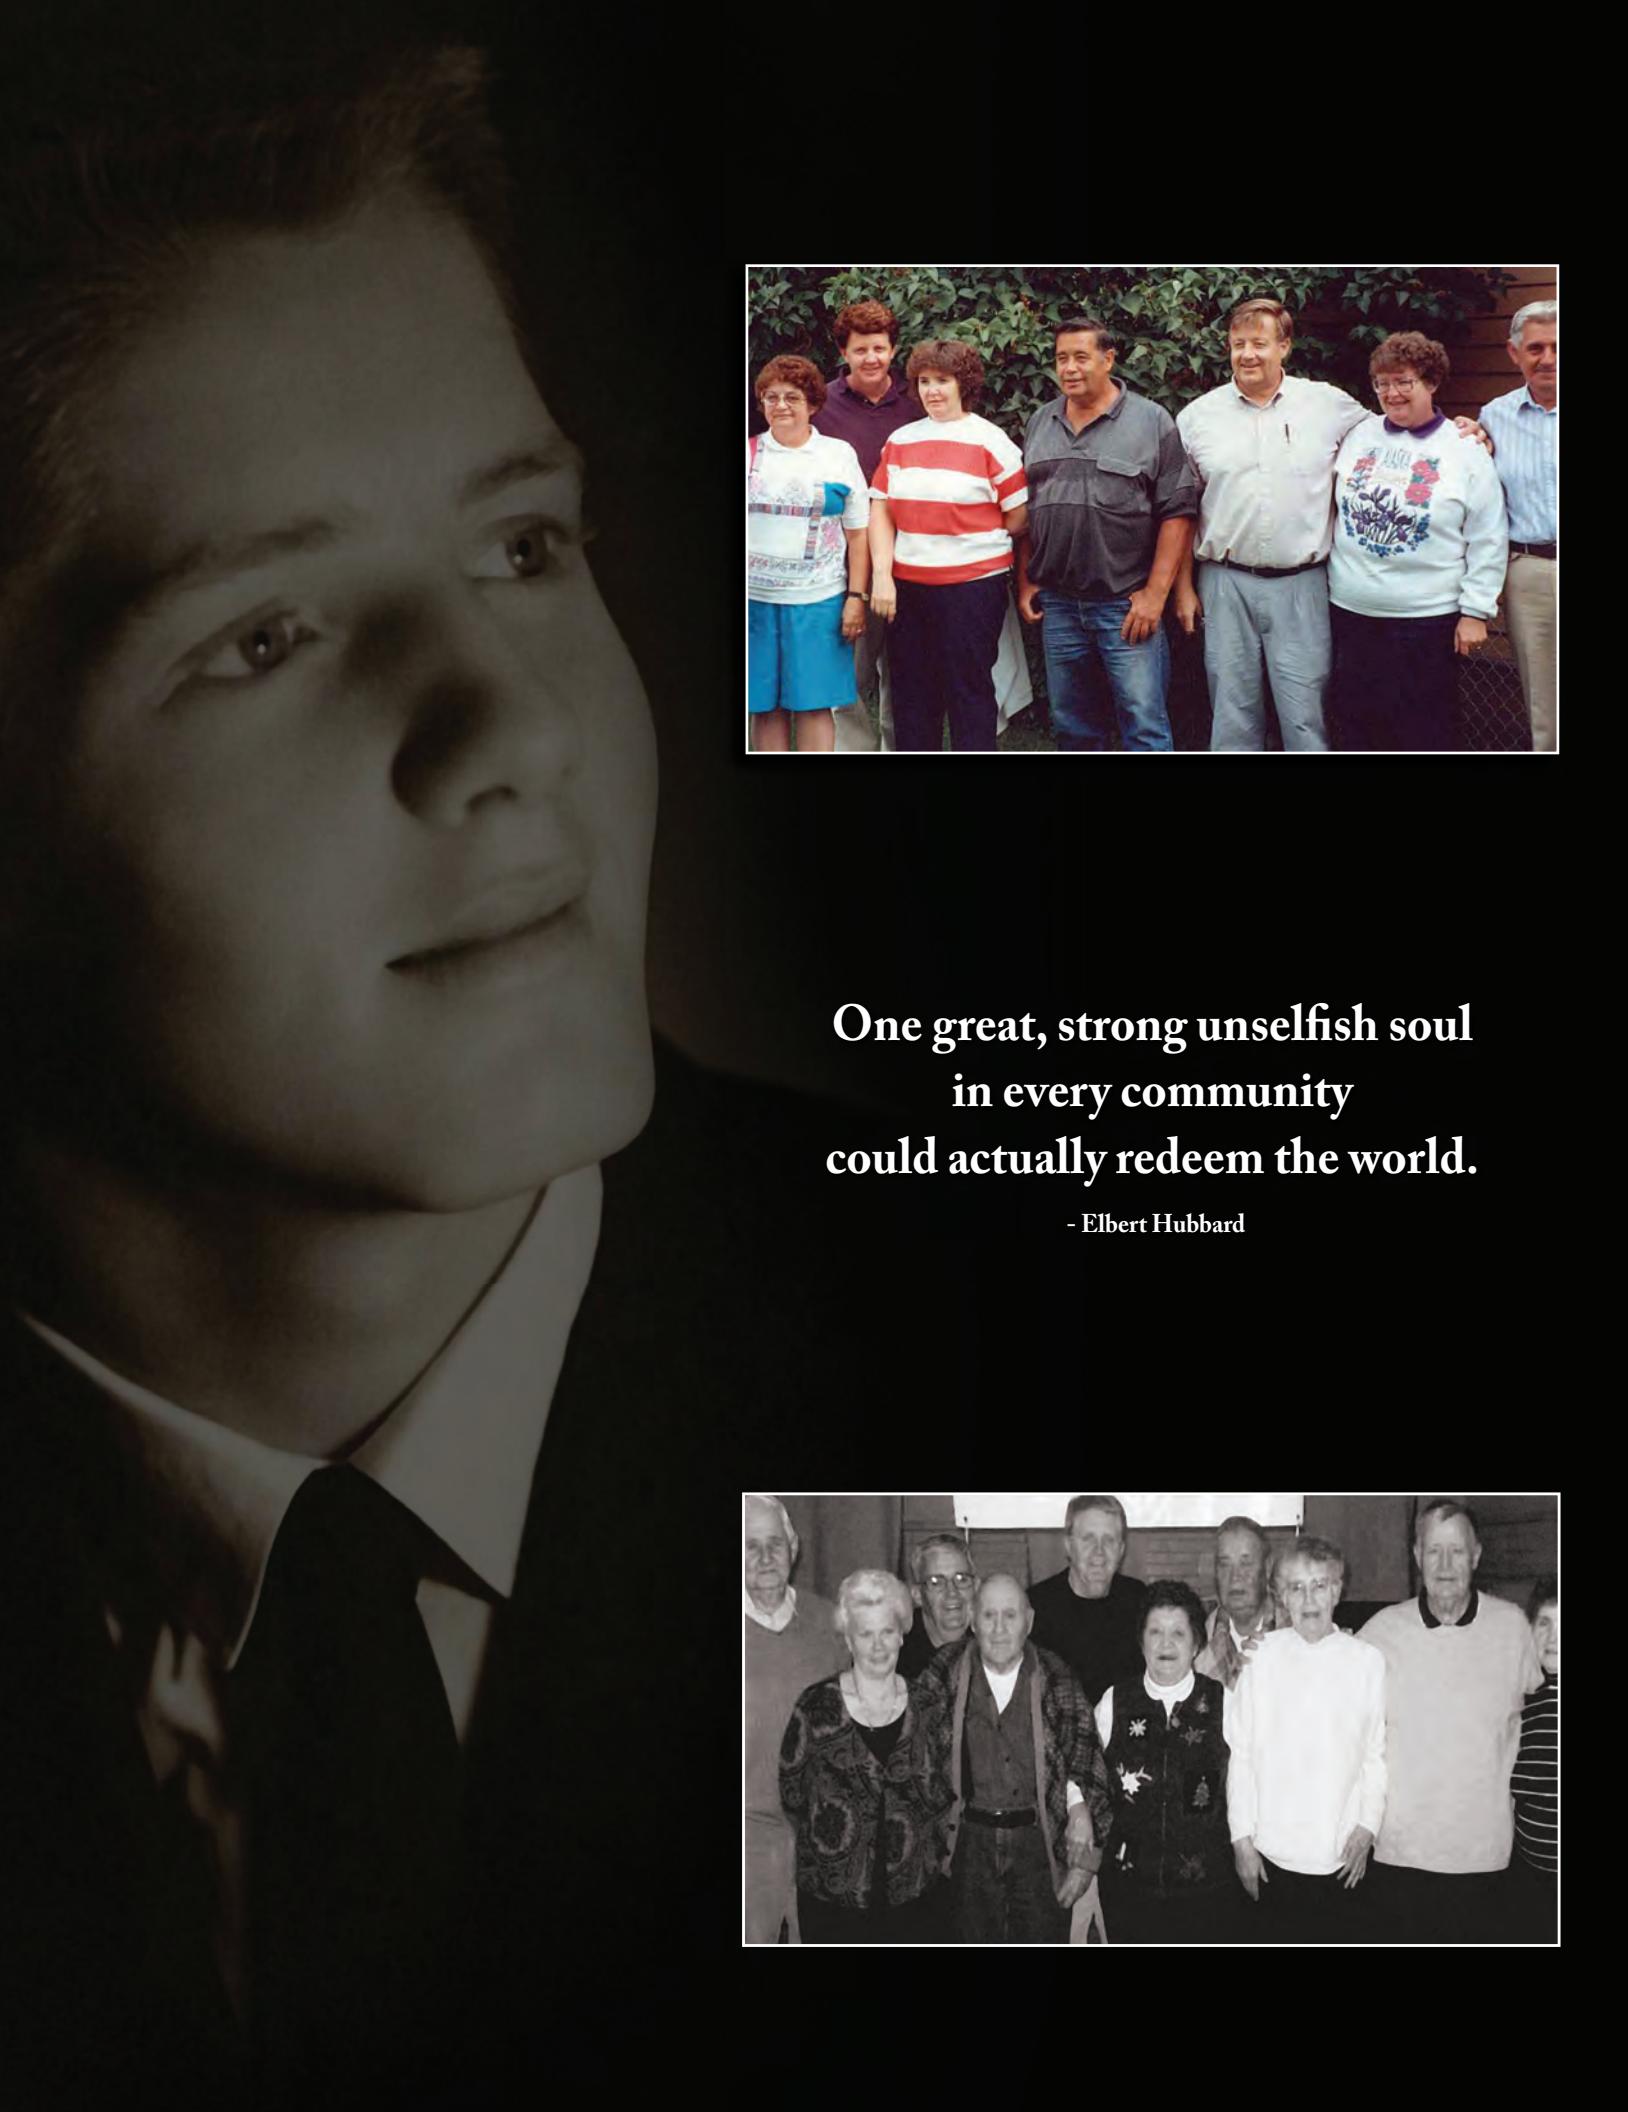

Variety of Southern California has made a stellar selection!

Congratulations Brother!

Tim was the youngest of 8 siblings. After his birth our mother got sick and I, being the oldest, was responsible for his care. We all got along very well and watched after one another. I remember when I was dating my late husband Timmy would always throw a fuss when I'd go on dates if he could not come along. He was always a good kid.

Healthcare

Variety is dedicated to helping special needs children throughout Southern California by funding a wide range of medical and therapeutic organizations that provide exceptional care to kids who need it most.

We purchase neonatal intensive care equipment for hospitals in low-income neighborhoods. We fund surgery weekends which transform the lives of disadvantaged children by providing reconstructive surgery for physical deformities.

Other grants directed at improving the physical and mental well-being of children include: after school programs for kids in foster care, equestrian therapy, camps for kids affected by Cancer, HIV and Heart Disease, therapy for children with autism, children afflicted with brain injuries, and programs and shelter for homeless teens.

Education

Variety of Southern California, Tent 25, supports the Los Angeles Community with a rewarding Scholarship Program that gives its youth an opportunity to expand their knowledge base, enabling them to strive for their dream. The Scholarship Program has awarded over $1.3 million to over 500 recipients since the inception of the program.

All of the scholarship recipients are at-risk youth from the greater Los Angeles area –many from the Variety Boys and Girls Club of Boyle Heights, who have worked hard to better their lives through education. Among its graduates are the Mayor of Los Angeles, doctors, lawyers, teachers and other community leaders.

Mobility

Bike rides, trips to the park, playing with other kids –these are all staples of childhood that children with disabilities want to experience. But for many families, the medical equipment necessary to give their kids the mobility they desire is often too expensive and almost never covered by insurance.

The Variety Mobility Program helps gives deserving kids confidence, freedom, independence and the chance to simply join in the activities of other kids, by providing funding for walkers, wheelchairs, specially-designed adaptive bikes, therapeutic strollers, adaptive seating, and other devices.
